Cody L. Phinney, MPH

Administrator

Nevada Division of Public and Behavioral Health

Cody Phinney is the administrator of the Nevada Division of Public and Behavioral Health (DPBH), under the state Department of Health and Human Services. Phinney most recently served as the agency manager for Northern Nevada Adult Mental Health Services, and previously served as the planner for Mental Health Services, managing statewide quality and block grant programs.

As DPBH administrator, Phinney provides leadership and oversight for the four branches of the division: administrative services, clinical services, community services, and regulatory and planning services. Phinney is also the secretary of the Nevada Board of Health and is the Nevada commissioner on behavioral health.

Phinney holds a master's degree in public health from San Diego State University and a bachelor's degree from University of California, Davis. Phinney is originally from Tonopah, Nevada.
