PROTECTING AND PROMOTING HEALTH IN THE STATES

This information comes from the ASTHO Profile of State Public Health, Volume Three. The Profile is the only comprehensive source of information about state public health agency activities, structure, and resources.

To view the complete Profile report, visit www.astho.org/profile. You can also download this infographic or the full Profile report or request access to Profile data.

---

BREADTH AND DEPTH: STATE HEALTH AGENCY PROGRAMS AND SERVICES

PROMOTING POPULATION HEALTH

State health agencies promote the health of all populations within their jurisdictions. The three maternal and child health services performed by the most state health agencies are:

- 59% Children with special healthcare needs
- 56% WIC
- 44% Home visits

The treatments for diseases and conditions provided by the most state health agencies are for tuberculosis (54%), sexually transmitted diseases other than HIV/AIDS (50%), and HIV/AIDS (30%).

The screenings for diseases and conditions performed by the most state health agencies are for sexually transmitted diseases other than HIV/AIDS (65%), HIV/AIDS (63%), and newborn screenings (67%).

COLLECTING AND SHARING INFORMATION

State public health labs stand ready to perform a wide variety of tests. The three lab services performed by the most state health agencies directly are:

- 96% Bioterror agent testing
- 94% Foodborne illness testing
- 94% Flu typing

The data collection, epidemiology, and surveillance activities performed by the most state health agencies are reportable diseases (100%), communicable/infectious diseases (96%), foodborne illness (98%), and vital statistics (98%).

The data collection, epidemiology, and surveillance activities performed by the most state health agencies are reportable diseases (100%), communicable/infectious diseases (96%), foodborne illness (98%), and vital statistics (98%).

ENSURING ACCESS FOR ALL

State health agencies perform a number of activities to promote access to healthcare services directly. The three types of initiatives that the most state health agencies perform are:

- 94% Health disparities and/or minority health initiatives
- 72% Rural health
- 47% Emergency medical services

Many state health agencies also engage in research activities, such as collecting, exchanging, or reporting data for a study (90%), disseminating research findings to key stakeholders (90%), and analyzing and interpreting study findings (85%).

---

ASTHO thanks the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation for their generous support of the ASTHO Profile of State Public Health.

Launched in 2007 and fielded every two to three years, the Profile Survey aims to define the scope of state public health services, identify variations in practice among state public health agencies, and contribute to the development of best practices in governmental public health.