

Nevada | Andrea Rivers, MS

Administrator

Nevada Division of Public and Behavioral Health

With more than two decades of service to Nevada, Andrea Rivers brings deep experience and long-standing dedication to public health and her role as Administrator of the Division of Public and Behavioral Health.

A proud third-generation Nevadan, Andrea began her state career in 2003 as a contractor working with Nevada Trauma Registry data and has since led major initiatives spanning maternal and child health, public health data systems, and statewide programs like Nevada WIC and the Office of Analytics.

Known for her collaborative leadership and belief in government's power to serve women, children, and families effectively, she has helped build systems that strengthen quality, accountability, and access to care for all across Nevada.

Andrea holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Nevada, Reno, and a master's in management and leadership from Western Governors University. She is passionate about making Nevada the best it can be—and about inspiring others to believe in and shape the state's bright future. As Administrator, Andrea is focused on turning this passion into action by enhancing efficiency, improving equity, and producing meaningful outcomes for the people and communities DPBH serves.
